TEN PAGES

FRIDAY, APRIL 17, 1914

If Congressman John J. Whitacre fails to defeat Gov. Cox for the democratic nomination for governor, indications are decidedly deceptive. Whitacre sentiment is sweeping over the state like wild-fire.

Gen. Jacob Coxey and his army started from Massillon Thursday for noon for Washington. D. C. Three hundred policemen will meet the bikers on the border of the capital city. What will then happen deponent saith not.

Senator Joseph Benson Fawcett thinks he can come back. Democratic candidates for the senator nomination wish him luck in securing the republican nomination. They think he would be about the easiest over to defeat.

Many democrats attended the Jefferson banquet in Alliance Wednesday night. Editor Ralph Evans of the Alliance Leader acted as toastmaster. Speeches were made by a number of distinguished Ohio democrats, among them being Hon. J. L. Zimmerman of Springfield, who is a candidate for nomination for United States senator.

President Wilson stands firm in his determination to have Gen. Huerta fire a salute to the stars and stripes to atone for repeated offenses against the right and dignity of the United States within a reasonable time or serious eventualities will result. A majority of the ships of the American navy are now on their way to the Atlantic and Pacific coasts of Mexico, carrying 15,000 bluejackets.

When a person has made a mistake in life don't be eternally holding it against him. Give him a chance to clean off the record and try again. It is quite likely he will do better if given an opportunity. There are few people who have reached their majority without something having happened they would just as leave not have remembered. People who have become matured sometimes do very foolish things. Be charitable.

Political enemies of former Congressman James Kennedy of Youngstown show a disposition to roast him because he is a candidate for the republican nomination for congress in the new nineteenth district. But Mr. Kennedy is not disturbed because of the attacks made upon him. He is in the race, he avers, to stay until the finish. He is a standpat republican, wants everybody to know it, and believes his record in congress will secure the nomination for him. Time will tell.

David Tod of Youngstown made quite a hit in his speech at the get-together banquet in Akron last week and his boosters feel certain he will be the republican nominee for governor. But he is to have anything but smooth sailing in his laudable ambition to fill the chair once occupied by his distinguished grandfather. His opponent, Congressman Frank Willis, is brilliant and knows the political game all the way and he has among his backers many men who have long been powerful in Ohio republican politics. Mr. Tod is likely to know he has been in some race before he finishes ahead of the Adams men.

YOUNGSTOWN

Ground was broken Friday at the corner of Elm street and Woodbine avenue, Youngstown, for the new Jewish Temple to be erected by the Rodef Shalom congregation.

A new school house will be built on the old Tod homestead at Brier Hill. The board of education has been given a 99-year lease of the 2½ acres for $1, which is practically a gift from the Tod estate.

Hon. B. F. Wirt will not be permitted to remain in seclusion if by Williams' Journal can prevent it. By is again booming B. F. for congress.

Charlie Wagner has resigned from the police force and is now at the head of a local eating place. He knows how to serve the best food in the best style, that is certain.

Petitions for John H. Clarke for United States senator are being circulated in the city and largely signed. His friends believe the contest is between him and Timothy Hogan of Columbus. But it is just possible that John L. Zimmerman of Springfield will be more of a factor in the campaign for nomination than is now suspected.

Prosecuting Attorney A. M. Mender is out with petitions asking for a second term, evidently not fearing defeat at the hands of those who oppose him. It is understood that efforts were made to have a candidate to oppose him for the nomination, but no one has yet appeared, and probably will not.

A modern bakery to cost $75,000 may be built here. Western capitalists interested in the project are considering a site here.

The anti-saloon forces, at a mass meeting Sunday afternoon in the Central Christian church, will discuss plans for a state-wide prohibition movement, outlined immediately after the recent wet and dry election here six weeks ago. Dr. W. W. Bustard, of Cleveland, will be the principal speaker.

Declaring that he ran away because he had lost part of $100 entrusted to him and admitting the charge of embezzlement against him, George Mincot, arrested in Toledo was brought back to East Youngstown Wednesday. On April 3 he was given $100 to deposit in the International Bank at East Youngstown by Bocoft Bros. He then disappeared.

The Cost of Living

The natural wants of men and women are not so very numerous. It is the acquired wants that consume the money.

A return to simpler modes of living would result in increased savings accounts, better health and greater general happiness.
